

ABSTRACT

An ostomy pouch includes separable inner and outer pouches. The inner pouch is replaceable. The inner pouch may be of water dispersible material. The inner pouch may be secured in position in the outer pouch by a separable adhesive coupling. The outer pouch has a refastenable openable zippered portion to facilitate replacement of the inner pouch. The zippered portion is preferably curved and in the pouch seam.